Thus, the applicant "takes" an actual examination as he learns to cope with the numerous valid authentic questions and problems. The questions are of the multiple-choice type, each containing four or five items, as will appear on the examination itself. The questions not only scan and sample the basic content of the subject matter outlined in the official bulletins of information, but also translate the applicant into the ongoing metamorphic and dynamic philosophy, principles, practices, procedures, and problems of the academic-professional world of insightful thinking and expansive reading in which he will flourish and on which he will make his impress. BUILDING SELF-CONFIDENCE...No questions in the books go unanswered. The result is that the applicant prepares confidently, and a climate of success is established for him since he now knows that there is no question, no problem, no situation which cannot be answered or solved correctly and meaningfully. Since reading is a strategic skill, students must have a strategy for comprehending the reading text and dealing with reading tasks especially answering reading comprehension questions (Roe et al., 2001). A questioning strategy utilized in developing reading comprehension skills is what Taffy Raphael refers to as Question- Answer Relationships or QAR (Nuttall, 2005). With QAR, teachers can help students become strategic while dealing with a text and questions simultaneously. The QAR strategy explicitly shows the relationship between questions and answers, and how to search for information in a text according to different types of questions. Furthermore, with the practice of Question Answer Relationships (QAR) strategy and its related reading strategies, students can become more familiar with different types of reading questions and consciously select the related reading strategies appropriately in order to answer each type of questions correctly and understand the whole text as much as possible. This book therefore tried to investigate how reading instruction using Question Answer Relationships (QAR) and its related reading strategies affected reading comprehension ability.
